sun

(sun) n.[ME, OE sunne; c. Gr. Sonne, Icel, sunna, Goth sunno] The star that is the central body of the solar system, around which the planets revolve and from which they receive light and heat.

The faculty at OHS seems rather like the sun; they are bright, and everything revolves around them. Without the faculty, there would be no life at OHS. They are always there in the morning and remain at their posts until the end of the day, lighting up our lives and allowing us to see many new and wondrous things.

Besides showing us new concepts, the faculty is able to explain these items to us, sometimes giving completely diverse perspectives. They allow us to grow, think, and form our own opinions. Teachers will often stay late, come in early, or even skip lunch to assist a student. Sometimes, faculty members have to explain something that they may not fully understand themselves. Yet they always pull through, and return the next day to repeat the entire process.

While we, the students, learn from the faculty, they are constantly learning from us. We keep them hopping with our inquisitive questions and bizarre behavior. This exchange of insight helps to make each day at Oxford High an eclectic experience. -Ann Chiras

The North Star

Phases are an integral part of the growing process, and many people in our lives help to influence the choices and decisions we must make throughout our phases. Oxford High School is overflowing with these kind, informative people who are always willing to help out students, faculty and staff members.

But there is an especially important person that has served as a guiding light for the class of 1998. As a faculty member of Oxford High since September 1970, he has led the way in facilitating dynamic new teaching techniques within his classroom. His highly active life includes teaching Driver's Education, coordinating class trips, and coaching the boy's varsity soccer team. Most days, students find him dressed up with a nice tie or sweater, and telling one of his famous corny jokes or puns. His willingness to help someone in need, whether on a homework assignment or trying to schedule driving hours, shines as brightly as his constant good-nature.

On behalf of the class of 1998, I would like to dedicate the 1998 Ravelin's yearbook to Mr. Robert Boucher, a living example of the world's guiding light, the North Star. Not many people will realize how important your thoughts and jokes are until after we have graduated, and how much you have helped to influence our futures. Thank you for all of your hard work and extreme dedication.

Teachers have been trying to find innovative ways to make learning in the classroom an enjoyable experience. This past summer, about thirty teachers took a voluntary one-week course at Nichols College entitled 'Dimensions of Learning'. The program illustrated new methods of teaching classes to these faculty members. Rather than the usual lecture-notes-test format, teachers were encouraged to get their students actively involved in the learning process.

Many teachers use open-ended questions to help improve students' writing and thinking skills. English classes were encouraged to act out the plays they read, such as Hamlet or Camelot. Mrs. Blazis, for example, instructs her students in writing and performing their own skits in Spanish. In Miss Beresik or Mr. Baggett's classes, students shouldn't be surprised to find themselves creating their own test questions. Mrs. Racicot enables her students to stretch their creative abilities through the creation of projects, such as a stellated dodecahedrons and an actual-sized mini-golf course hole. Mr. Boucher's history classes create newspapers of world events from past decades to develope their research and communication skills (and also broaden their knowledge of the U.S.). In Mr. Doldoorian's and Mr. Bergin's psychology classes, students are encouraged to participate in and perform their own experiments. -Ann Chiras

The Breakfast Club

On December 10, 1997, I had the pleasure of attending a meeting of teachers. At this meeting, the teachers didn't discuss Ed Reform or school curriculum; but breakfast. They call themselves the O.H.S. Breakfast Club. When the school day begins with period 2, eight teachers join together and have breakfast. These teachers include Mr. Constanzo, Mrs. Lawrence, Mr. Boucher, Mrs. Briody, Ms. Chamberlain, Mrs. Racicot, Mr. Ducharme, and Mr. Piette. Mrs. Lawrence informed me that last year the club originated with bagels. This year, a new Breakfast Club was formed and, with the help of Mr. Constanzo, the menu was also extended to omlettes, gourmet homefries, and other breakfast delights. Each time the club meets a different teacher prepares and cooks the breakfast. Ms. Chamberlain remarked that "some people just cook, some buy the food, and others just come down at the last minute to eat!" This week was Mr. Constanzo and Mrs. Racicot's turn to cook. They prepared pepper and onion omlettes, buttered English muffins, and garlic homefries, which are Mrs. Racicot's specialty. This Breakfast club even went surfing the 'net for breakfast recipes to hand out among the members.

I asked Mrs. Lawrence what the criteria was to be a Breakfast Club member. She jokingly replied that "you must weigh at least 100 lbs. and be over 21 years old." Although I am automatically exempted from being a member, I found the Breakfast Club to be very interesting. It lets teachers be themselves and get to know each other on a friendly level. And as we all know, teachers are humans too, even if some of them don't know how to cook!

We are Family!

Throughout the years at Oxford High, students have had the pleasure of dealing with a knowledgable and caring faculty. This year our faculty has welcomed a new member, Mr. Piette, into their famliy. Although there is a wide range in teaching experience, each member serves the same important purpose, "To secure the future with well-educated people". Another important division of our faculty is the maintenance staff. Without their hard work and dedication to out school, the surroundings would not be suitable for our academic achievement. – Shani Anderson

saros

(sâ'räs) n. [Gk. fr. Assyr.-Bab. sharu] A Babylonian lunar cycle of a little over 18 years (6,585.32 days) after which the Moon returns to exactly the same position in relation to the Sun and the Earth. It therefore marks the interval between successive eclipses of the same type.

Seniors are moons orbiting in space. We, like the man on the moon, observe all that occurs around us. The sun is our own source of light and life, and the Earth stands for all we know. Events that take place in our lives can be symbolized by eclipses. During our years at Oxford High School, we have experienced many eclipses, such as our first formal dance, class rings, drivers' education, and S.A.T.'s. Then there are all our personal eclipses. Trying to find where we "belong" and how we wish to spend the rest of our lives is an extremely exhausting experience. We have much more responsibility now than ever before. Many of us have part time jobs; so we deal with picky customers, managers, and minimum wage. Colleges flood our homes with papers (please recycle) and booklets. Then each of us has questions. Do I want to go to college? What will I do if I don't go? Will I have enough money? And still more linger on our minds.

Becoming seniors means that we have reached our first saros. During this time, we have witnessed many events and achieved many accomplishments. From learning to crawl to walking up to receive our diplomas, we have gone through many changes. This year marks a milestone in our lives. To some it is an ending, but now we must realize that this is only the beginning...

Now it is time for us, in a sense, to leave all we know and go forward into brave new worlds of our own. For less than 525,600 minutes (number of the minutes in a year), the class of 1998 experienced its senior year. Graduation marks the conclusion of the first saros, and the commencement of the next.

Miss O'Brien can be found in room 203 working with her students.

The responsibilities of a class advisor are enormous. They have to work with a multitude of different students, various personalities, and levels of maturity. Class advisors must also deal with administration and through it all Miss O'Brien has always been there. The class trip to New York City in 1997, a towel sale that same year, and Operation Graduation are just some of the activities with which she has helped us. The senior class trip to Disney World was made possible through Miss O'Brien's efforts.

When the senior class officers were asked to describe Miss O'Brien they all remarked on her dedication and good nature. Karyn Viel said "She's more than a class advisor, she's our friend." Sara Manseau replied "Miss O'Brien hasn't just helped me with school activities, but she has also been there to support me personally." Shani Anderson remarked, "She's always there with great suggestions."

Friends From Other Worlds

This year we have two foreign exchange students attending Oxford High; Michael Franke from Germany and Chloe Cheng (Chor-Chi Cheng) From Hong Kong.

Michael is quite happy to have the opportunity to stay in the United States while attending an American High School. Sports are one of his favorite activities here, and the amount of school spirit we have surprises him. "We don't have school spirit in Germany." He said. The relationships between the teachers and students at OHS are wonderful, and it's easier here to get better grades in English class.

Chloe also enjoys the experience of living in Oxford. She treasures the countryside and the teachers at OHS, and enjoys spending time with the Brodeur's, her host family. She finds OHS to be lots of fun. Both agree that they would like to come back to the United States again sometime during their lives.

Binary Systems

A a binary system is a two-star system in which the stars are associated and circle around a common center of gravity (barycenter). Throughout our lives, we seek out people with which to share our common interests. We begin talking on this single thread of familiarity, until we have built an affinity. This is where we make our connection. So who do we consider a friend? Someone who won't laugh too hard when you imitate a singing chicken (love you Annie!), and appreciates you for who you are. Someone who has seen you first thing in the morning and still speaks to you. Someone to share secrets, money,and clothes with, and someone who can make pumping gas as much fun as going to the prom. Our lives would be an immense black hole of despair without our friends.

On February 8, 1997, the senior class held its junior prom. The O.H.S. cafeteria was the setting for this occasion. An ice sculpture of a dancing couple was one of the decorative highlights. A myriad of couples assembled for the "grand march" across the stage, and then settled down to a catered dinner. Glass tumblers with the prom theme and dancing couple emblem were given as favors. After dinner, students danced the night away to a variety of tunes provided by a local D.J., and later on went off to whatever after-prom celebrations they may have planned. –Ann Chiras

THE BEATLES
Bates

As graduation day draws near, inspiring prospects turn to fear,
which makes us view our future
as an end.

For when the line's completely crossed the only world we know is lost along with many of our closest friends.

We seldom stop and think about who each of us would be without the classmates that we choose as company

And all the feelings we have spared with thoughts of precious times we've shared are conjured up from former memory

We're all the products of this town:
athletes, scholars, actors, clowns, proud to say we came from Oxford High

But nothing in a test or quiz prepares us for how hard it is to find the words we need to say GOODBYE.

supernova

(sü'pe(r)no'va) n.[NL, fr. super-+nova] A rarely observed gigantic stellar explosion in which the maximum intrinsic luminosity may reach 100 million times that of the sun; a super giant star that blasts itself apart.

Our class is like a Supernova. Junior year is the solid ground from which we use to "Blast off." Our future depends on the choices we make today.

We are approaching a wall we hit in our lives. Everything is coming at us all at once. We have PSAT's, licenses, jobs, class rings, prom and more. Trying to figure out how to fit this all in one year is one huge exploding STRESS ball. It seems we cannot get a car without a job, because we will not have enough money. Our prom is another stressful thing," What will I wear"; "Who will I bring"; "What will I do after it's all over?"

In September our class was faced with money problems. We did not know how we were to raise the money for our events this year. So we decided to fix the problem by winning homecoming. Money will help us pay for the prom, ring ceremony and any other expenses that may come up.

As we say good-bye to the class of 1998, we the class of 1999 take a step forward in our lives, approaching our own saros. Then we will fill the positions as roll models for the school.

After School

It's the end of the school day. What are you going to do? Many people get involved in sports. There are a ton of sports and activities to participate in. For example, in football you get to crash heads with other teams (now that's using your heads!). Becoming an expert in a sport or activity takes a lot of practice. It's can be hard playing sports and against other.

There are also other people who work at restaraunts and businesses as a way to earn money. Some just hang out with their friends, and others perform in plays or work behind the scenes as cast and crew members. Oh, and don't forget the pit band! There are so many things a person can do after school hours, but one thing everyone should be doing is their homework!

Keeping it Together

Everyone has his/her own idea about being organized. Some write ideas on pieces of paper and shove them in their pockets. Other keep thoughts in a notebook or a special assignment book. But as always, there are some who don't care.

This year, the OHS Booster club surprised us with new school planners. This planner is perfect for keeping grades, homework, projects, and other assignments, along with your class schedules. It even has a calender and a strategies for taking tests, studying, setting realistic goals, and how to get organized. This agenda book includes a "career preparation" guide, which includes how to write a resume, how to complete a job application form, how to act at an interview, and how to keep track of your budget.

All through this book there are quotes, historical facts, mind games, and interesting art work. But there is just one phrase that haunts this planner: "If I plan to learn, then I must learn to plan".

Hawaiin Stylin

The class of 1999 has experienced a new beginning; we have received our class rings. Everyone has a different style with different logos. For example, the people who play sports could have different sport designs, or club members could have their logos placed on their ring. The best part about it was that we were able to pick out the logos we wanted to place on our rings. So if someone asked us to see our ring, then he would know our special interests.

To receive our rings, we had a HawaiinStyle burret. It was awesome! We danced, talked, and stared at our new rings. It was fun. We even had people dressed up as Hawaiins. Everyone left with smiles because we knew we were leaving with something that, for the rest of our lives would remind us of our high school days.

Homework

Students are usually given homework everyday. Some students choose to do homework, and others choose not to. However, in most classes homework is counted as a percentage of the student's grade. This year, students have academic labs which provide help for students in completing their homework. Because of last year's poor homework grades, Rob Phillipo says, "Academic lab helps me get my work done." Teachers often assign homework to give students practice in the specific subject they are studying. Teachers can also see if a student is trying or not through homework. Most students do not like to do homework, but it helps them in the long run.

(neb'yu la) n. [NL, fr. L, mist, cloud; akin to OE nifol cloudy, dark] Any of many immense bodies of highly rarefied gas or dust between the stars. We see bright nebulae because they reflect llight; dark nebulae because they obscure light from distant stars.

Sophomores are like a nebula in space. We are the in-between. We are not treated as children but have not yet reached the highly coveted upperclassmen's title. A nebula is between growing stages from baby to almighty star. It needs to develop as do we. We are too young to experience the horrors of SAT's and ACT's but we are maturing and reaching the levels of PSAT's and Plan tests. We are not yet able to take physical education with the upperclassmen and have experienced sharing the class with underclassmen. We prepare by taking our own class, Project Adventure. Many of us do not have jobs, but the desire for money continues to grow. We know in the backs of our minds that one day we must mature and find a job, but we have not quite reached that level. The upperclassmen must begin starting to think seriously about their careers and future, while we are casually looking over details of school and preparing academically. We still have two years left but we are looking to find the most important parts of life. We are realizing this is the beginning of the end of our high school years. It seems as if we have all the time in the world. When one stops and thinks, the reality is that there are only two years left to our high school career; two years left to determine our future. What will it be? Whatever it may be we are prepared and we will accept the challenges facing us, the class of 2000.

...At A Glance

As I think back to last year I think homework, homework, and more homework. Thank goodness this year we have academic labs. Students no longer have to struggle at home with a problem because academic labs now provide a wide variety of help for students in need. Considering all the homework we have and knowing that some of it can be completed during a lab makes all students, especially athletes grateful. Thanks for the academic labs! -Julie Greenlees

Lunch Time!

I think that eating in our school cafeteria is a stressful experience. If worrying about tests, quizzes, locker combinations, and endless amounts of homework isn't enough, we have to worry about getting to lunch on time, getting a seat, and then having enough time to eat before the bell rings.

Then teachers think that lunch is the time to talk to friends and to go to the bathroom, but in real life, we barely have enough time to eat and go to the bathroom . We can't finish digesting our food in two minutes!

But there are fun times too! Sitting at the table discussing that hot guy who sits next to you in study hall, and how much you wish you could get up the nerve to ask him to the semi formal or just to say "Hi.". Oh, there he is!

Maybe lunch isn't so bad after all!

"In Betweenies"

As sophomores, we are "in betweenies" because we have two grades above and below us. So we must stand on our own. We are involved in most everything, from sports, SADD, NJROTC, band, and more. No matter what we get involved in, we leave a lasting mark. We cheer on juniors and seniors and follow their lead. We set an example for the the underclassmen. We cheered on our class at the pep rally, and even though we didn't win, we still had a blast! And the fact that sophomores were on the Super Bowl team made it great! Even though we can't admit it, this is our last goof-off year. Next year, we need to start preparing for college by researching and applying, taking the SAT's, and every other thing under the sun. You think it is bad now, but just wait. But we are the class of 2000 and we will survive and take everything in stride.

Rad Racing!

To us guys, there is nothing more important than riding. We ride at Fox Run, a trail that goes all over Oxford . We do it for fun; racing, jumping, and trying not to crash! As you can see in the photos, we have become greatly skilled at jumping. Whether it is jumping or racing around at 70 mph, you could say that we test the limits of gravity. We ride every chance we get, including after school, weekends, and during the summer. In the summertime, we get up really early so we can ride as much as possible. It does cost a lot of money for gas, but it is worth it! And if we could, we would do nothing else.

globular cluster

(glob yə lər klus tər) n. [L. globul(us); ME; OE, cluster, clyster; c. LG, kluster] A cluster of stars, galaxies, or supergalaxies that is usually approximately spherical with compactness apparently increasing towards the center.

The best word to describe the freshmen class is "globular cluster", because there are so many of us, all interested in different things and having varied talents. We show our interest in numerous activities, such as the newly-founded National Junior Honor Society, basketball, soccer, track, softball, student council, cheering, and band. Four of our shining freshmen stars are Molly Hudson, Katie James, Ashley Hokanson, and Lauren MacGregor, who were on the girl's varsity soccer team that made it to the state districts. More of our stars are the freshmen cheerleaders and band members, and the rest of the people in the stands cheering for OHS sport teams. We have stars in the student council and on student government. The freshmen involved in the school newspaper and on the yearbook staff help to make our class shine even brighter. Our stars in the art classes help to make the hallways shine brightly. But it is the class of 2001 as a whole that shines with individual talent and interests, making us a very special part of Oxford High. - Sarah Aquafresca and Sarah Cierpich

A Morning in the Life of a Freshmen

As you stumble groggily out of your room, you realize that you have a half-hour to get ready for school. You search the cupboards for cereal that isn't stale, and upon not finding any, you grab a package of Pop Tarts and stuff them in your backpack. You throw on an outfit and quickly brush your teeth. You grab your walkman and some favorite tapes and you're out the door. You make it to your bus stop just as the bus arrives. Upon entering the bus, you find your favorite seat has been taken over by three noisy girls. You grudgingly sit in the front seat, only to get whacked by bags as others board the bus. You put your head back on this seat and wish that you were still in bed. The bouncing of the bus over the speed bumps wakes you from your slumber. You groan as you realize that you will have to go into the auditorium and plow through the masses to find a seat without gum stuck to it. When you find a seat, you fall asleep and dream of being home, snoring away in your own bedroom.

Freshmen Feet

From Hush Puppies to Doc Martins, Nikes to Reeboks, and sandals to platforms, you'll find every kind of footwear here at Oxford High. The shoes you wear help define your personality. They can tell people where you've been. Your shoes are with you every day, everywhere you go. Your shoes take all kinds of abuse. Take pity on them. They walk to school, board the bus, pedal bikes, and ride skateboards. They go through swamps, sand, mud puddles, and snow. Never mind being magnets for gum, wet toilet paper, dead bugs, and dog stuff. Our poor gym shoes!

Your shoes pick up memories everywhere you travel. So some day, look at your old shoes, take a walk down memory lane, and remember the days you've spent with them at Oxford High.

High Spirits

Everyone here at Oxford High has a whole lot of school spirit, especially the freshmen! We cheer our loudest at the rallies for the sports teams. We try to attend all of the football games to cheer on the guys, the cheerleaders, the band, and the NJROTC. Everyone loves going to the games and rallies just to scream and yell all we want. We love our school and show that we're proud to be a part of it by attending all the events we sponsor. We worked really hard to decorate our section of the bleachers for the Homecoming rally. All of the freshmen work hard to get our class recognized.

Lunchtime!

Having first lunch this year was a big improvement from third lunch last year. Last year, we were practically passing out waiting for lunch to come. But this year, right around the time I get hungry, the lunch bell rings. Lunch is very repetitious. The same people have the same thing for lunch everyday, and everyone sits in the same place! The snack bar lady, Mrs. Mason, is really nice. She adds real quickly in her head, so the line moves fast. Lunch could be a bit longer. The juice machine is quite tempermental. If you are nice to the machine, it usually takes your money.

A "new" star; actually one that suddenly increases in brightness.

Eighth graders are the new stars in Oxford High's universe. We were very nervous, thinking of all the people we would meet and all the friends we would make while trying to find our place in the big sky with all of the other stars already here. There are lots of new things to do and higher expectations of us. We were terrified at first, but after the first week we started to fit right in. Like a nova, we are very eager to do all the things that all the regular stars do and shine as brightly while doing them. But we must pay our dues and be around awhile and practice before we'll be as good as they are. There is so much more to do now and more after school activities. And for the first time in our lives, we get to decide what course of study we will take here, at Oxford High School, or maybe at Bay Path.

First Day

It was the first day of school and I could not find the eighth grade section of the school. I felt like I did not belong at the High School. Teachers had to help me find my homeroom. When I finally got to class, I was so relieved. After homeroom I got lost again. I had to ask teachers where all my classes were. The teachers all seemed really nice. After sixth period I tried to go to my locker and could not find it! I was so humiliated.

Eighth grade luck, go to the high school to get lost! I got through the day trying to forget that I had to do this again tomorrow.

It has been a few months since then. Things are better, but I still get lost. All my teachers still seem nice. I know all the kids in my classes. I was scared at first but I got used to it. I love the high school. Now I feel at home! There are so many things to enjoy after school. Being on the yearbook staff is lots of hard work and lots of fun.

Everybody else's second day of school was Katie Boulay's first day. Everyone else knew where they were going 'cept her! She felt so out of place. It all started when she got off the bus. She had to find where her homeroom was. Lucky her, Mrs. Geenty was very understanding. Katie's worst experience of the day was walking into the janitors' closet on her way to art. Now finding her classes is a breeze. Bet she'll never walk into a janitors closet again!

A Day In The Life...

In the morning before we go to our lockers, all of us meet in the auditorium to wait until the bell rings to go to our first period class. We plan things to do after school or just talk about stuff. Then the bell rings and we head towards our lockers. We talk to our friends that we missed in the auditorium. We do get ready though! Then we split up and go to our first period classes and get our assignments for the day.

But what do eighth graders do during lunch time? When that lunch bell rings to end sixth period, the eighth grade race to the lunch room finish line begins! Lunch is where we meet up the rest of the eighth grade gang. We find a table and park our lunch that we brought or bought. We talk about everything that happened to us during the day and then eat and talk and eat and talk some more. When the bell rings, we go to our lockers to get ready for the last period of the day.

At the end of the day when all the people go home, some of us stay behind and got to our after school activities like NJROTC, yearbook committee and the newspaper. We also stay after for extra help and sometimes for detention. There are many other things to stay after for. After we do our thing we go and wait for our ride.

What we do when we get home? Some of us go shopping to the Auburn or Solomon Pond Malls and some of us do homework first and then go out! Some rollerblade or skateboard around town. A few eighth graders hold jobs after school instead of going off with friends. And so goes another day in the life of eighth graders.

-Krystle Fleck

Fads and Fashion

Kids these days really get into the fashion scene. Bell bottoms and Silk shirts are very popular. Sunflowers often appear on all sorts of accessories. Girls seem to like shirts that expose their belly buttons. Other popular fashion statements are jelly shoes and platform soles. Today's trends repeat the old days when our parents wore these kinds of clothes in the 1970's. The hottest items on the market are beanie babies, virtual pets, Classic Pooh, clear pocketbooks, and anything with a smiley face on it. Partially shaved heads and bright hair coloring are in for both guys and girls. Favorite clothing brand names are Adidas, Nike, Fila, and Tommy Hilfiger. Wonder what the year 2002 has in store for us!

Alternative Education

This school year marks the second year of The Autism Collaborative Education Program (ACE) at O.H.S. A small group of special needs students are taught by very dedicated faculty members in communication, math, reading, and even physical education. Perhaps you've noticed an ACE student rollerblading along the gymnasium corridor with the guidance of an instructor. That is only one of the innovative teaching methods ACE uses.

Project C.O.F.F.E.E. (Cooperative Federation For Educational Experience) is another special educational program at O.H.S. Students who have difficulty following the regular school curriculum join this group. They focus on computer maintenance and programming, agriculture, distributive education, and building maintenance. The school offers many hands-on opportunities for C.O.F.F.E.E. students, including fixing glitches in school comuters and caring for the plant life around the building.

Spirit Time!

Let's get ready to rumble! And that's exactly what we did at the 1997 homecoming pep rally. Our spirit week consisted of dress-up day, hat day, crazy tie day, class color day (black, white, blue, green, red, from seniors to eighth grade), and orange and black day. It took each class a tremendous amount of hard work in a small period of time. When all the cheering and screaming was done, the Juniors were out on top, followed by the seniors and sophmores tied for second.

This year's festivities were a great sucess due to the wonderful weather. A new idea for competition was Mr.Ducharme's wiffle ball tournament, which was a huge success. Many classes and activities worked hard to rake in the dough on Homecoming Day by operating various boothes. It was only through the tremendous amount of school spirit found here at OHS that made Homecoming a huge success!

-Andrew Sciannameo

Oxford High's second fall play, "Said the Spider to the Spy", was yet another fulfilling experience for the nine actors and actresses, myself as the student director, and Derek Sylvester, our director. This is the first time we have ever performed in front of the student body and we were a bit edgy about it. However, the conduct and response of the students was very reassuring.

Many notable instances occured during this show production. My most vivid is having to fill in for two separate parts on VERY short notice. The cast will never forget when one of Mindy's lines involved a supermarket called "Stop and Save" was inadvertantly switched to "Stop and Shave" during a rehearsal. The reacting expressions were priceless. That's what our nine cast members are; absolutely priceless.

Many aspects go into a show and they have to be put together precisely the right way for a successful production. Director Derek Sylvester sums it up best, "From onstage, to set construction, to fundraising, this cast has given everything they had for the production, proving what a truly exceptional troupe they are." That's the theatre experience.

Winter Wonderland

Under the guidance of Mr. Baggett, the band and chorus put on an excellent Christmas concert on December 17th. The band had to work hard to both keep up on its marching music for the extended football season and learn the Christmas music. Though the highest hurdle was that the band met during two different periods and only had one opportunity to rehearse as a whole. In addition, several people had only started playing within the last year and some restarted instruments they had neglected for years. So when it came time for Mr. Baggett to choose music that the beginners could play, as well as something to challenge the more experienced upperclassmen, he selected pieces that everyone enjoyed playing. The great effort exerted by the beginners was appreciated by all and everyone's hard work was obvious.

The chorus had two separate classes during the day as well. The growth of this group has been incredible. We have a group of over 40 singers, the majority being in the eighth and ninth grades. It's good to know that these groups will continue to grow under Mr. Baggett's careful leadership. A highlight of the concert was the encore number from the chorus, a parody of "Jingle Bells" entitled "Dashing through the Slush". The song described all the holiday pains and dislikes, and the audience members, especially the adults, got a big kick out of it.

The Joslin School band was our special guest in this concert. Under the direction of Mrs. Perault, this group of fourth and fifth graders played a medley of holiday tunes, and just like our band, had many people playing at their first concert.

Dedication is the Key

The Oxford High School Student Council is the backbone of our school. The Student Council helps a great portion of our school and communtiy with activities such as sports banquets, announcements, canned food drives, clothing drives, senior citizen dinner and the annual blood drive, as well as organizing the very loud Homecoming Pep Rally, spirit week, and homecoming weekend. Mr. Constanzo, the supporter and advisor of the Student Council, commits a great deal of time and effort, along with all of the students. The officers, Andy Sciannameo, President, Mike Pryzgoda, Vice President, Nina Stone, Secretary, and Ben Sturgell, Treasurer, help encourage all members to participate and give their most to this great organization. I would like to thank the council for being responsible, hardworking, and caring people.

-Andy Sciannameo

With Leadership and Dedication...

The National Honor Society has been incredibly active this year, raising an abundance of money through a variety of fundraisers. Almost every member helped in some way to support the Pumpkin Spectacular, whether it was selling tickets, dressing in costume or working at the NHS booth. With the money raised, we have planned several community service projects and field trips. We have already embarked on one trip to Foothills Theater in Worcester to see "The Lucky Stiff". We also plan to see another play in the spring in Boston. The NHS is a group of students designed to have fun while serving our community and learning leadership and dedication, all while holding our scholarship abilities and averages. -Scott St. Martin, NHS President

This is the first year of the National Junior Honor Society at O.H.S. To be selected for the NJHS, students are narrowed down in the categories of scholarship, leadership, service, citizenship, and character. A large aspect of being in this group is performing community service. Some service projects we are looking into include peer tutoring, recycling, helping out at Sandalwood Nursing Home, and assisting at Woodward School. Ms. Beresik, the NJHS Advisor, the group's officers, and other students spend time finding new projects for us to become invloved in. The grade eight officers are: Troy Mercier (President), Lillian Hill (Vice President), Andy Rice (Treasurer), Betsy Skrip (Secretary), Carina Holmgren (Parliamentarian), and Ashley Thompson (Historian). The grade nine officers include: Ben Cormier (President), Molly Hudson (Vice President), Kristy Fitzpatrick (Treasurer), Sarah Aquafresca (Parliamentarian), and Diana Fiorentino (Historian). The induction ceremony took place on January 20, 1998, and Dr. Ivascyn was the guest speaker. Ms. Beresik worked really hard to put this together, and I hope the NJHS has the support of the entire community.

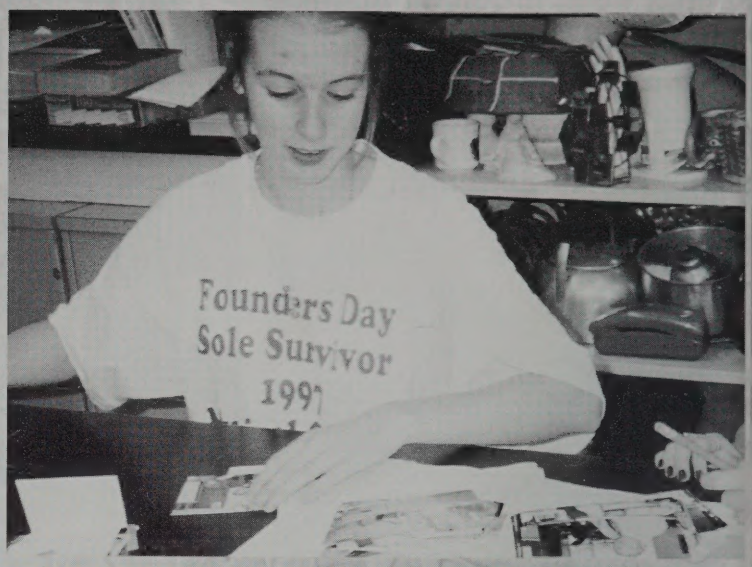
About Our Difficult Phase...



Yearbook is not as easy as some people may think; quite the contrary, it becomes more difficult as the years go on. First we must pick a theme that relates to the school as a whole, and for each individual student as well. This year, Melissa Hope brainstormed our theme in Walmart, It's Just a Phase. After a theme has been chosen, the cover, endsheets, and major divider pages have to be designed, the theme copy written, the "ladder" drawn, the copy written and edited, the photos taken, developed, and cropped, the pages designed, the subscriptions and advertisements sold, and through all of this, you have to keep making deadlines on time! Sounds like a stressful and all-work no-play job, doesn't it? But it's not. You get to look at all the photographs and decide which ones go into the book and where. You can write stories about almost anything, and you may find out some of the "yearbook secrets" the editor has in store. And in the end, you have the satisfaction of knowing that "I wrote this" or "I designed that".

After visiting Yearbook Camp for a second year, I was able to collaborate many of my ideas with Mrs. Briody to create some cool-looking pages, and an extra-special surprise with a fold-out signature comprised of just seniors. This year, we also were blessed with a new computer, so we decided to try and make the book on the computer. It took a lot of frustrations and time to learn how to use the Page Maker program, but everything will pay off when this book is published.

Many people contribute to the yearbook, whether naming people in a photo, or the 10 to 25 hours a week the editor-in-chief may spend working on a deadline. But our advisor, Mrs. Briody, is always willing and prepared to help out whenever someone needs assistance.

So if you ever have the desire to learn about how a yearbook is made, just visit room 167 any day after school. You won't regret it. I sure didn't!

What's in the News?

This year the Oxford High School newspaper, The Ledger, was resurrected. OHS has gone without a forum for students to express themselves and a student produced publication that serves to inform the faculty and students for approximately twenty years. In order to reinstate such a publication, Erin Brenner and Leanne Benson decided to form The Ledger. This is the original name of the OHS newspaper, and it dates back to the 1920's. Once Leanne and Erin got the okay to form a newspaper, the co-editors recruited Mrs. Casavant as their ever-so faithful-and-extremely-important advisor, and a couple dozen students as their just-as-important-and-dedicated staff. Together, they all work to produce a monthly Ledger filled to the pages' edges with news articles, sport stories, comics, creative writing, class and club stories, horoscopes, advice, puzzles, editorials, and personals. Now the students of Oxford High recognize the importance and opportunity of this informative and expressive publication and we hope The Ledger will continue for many years to come!

Spectacular Students

Under the advisory of Mrs.Lawrence, SADD began an eventful year by first electing new officers. Tania Scott was elected president, Alysia Monaco-vice president, Kelly Leslie-treasurer, Karen Dixon-secretary and Jill Chennette-publications officer. With seven members attending the SADD National conference in Washington D.C. this past summer, everyone came back with great hopes and ambitions. One of these ideas was to extend our organization to the middle school in attempt to broaden the decision of the larger generation. The younger students were very receptive to the proposal and were quite anxious to get involved with this important cause. Not only has the high school chapter increased tremendously, but we are now proud of a 50+ member organization at the middle school. We have also worked hard on raising awareness in the school and the community, and red awareness ribbons were tied to every car antenna at the homecoming football game. SADD also sponsored the "adopt a smoker" program on national smoke out day, as well as AIDS awareness day on December 1st.

This program has greatly improved since last year and will continue to grow due to the determination of our members and advisor (Thank you Mrs. Lawrence!).

Just Hafta Play Outside!

Ski Club was an experience I will not soon forget. This was my first year in the club and my first time snowboarding (which resulted in a painfully bruised rear). The ski club is something I recommend to anyone who enjoys having a great time with some of their best friends. In addition to being a member of the ski club I was also the photographer, which gave me time to look at how good some members are. Being able to go up with some experienced skiers and boarders helped me get the hang of the sport. It is easy to learn and now I can keep up with any of the members. I can't forget the chaperones who took their time to bring us to the mountain. A special thanks goes out to Maureen Napieratta of Oxford Womens Club who has been organizing the ski club for the past six years. For information about joining the ski club, contact Maureen Napieratta at the Oxford Woman's Club.

Proud and Hardworking

The Naval Junior Officers Training Corps (NJROTC) unit of Oxford High School started its third year with a bang. When school opened, the unit had already been awarded Chief of Naval Education and Training Unit award which set many new benchmarks. Oxford's Unit not only became the first Northeast School to ever earn such an award only in its second year, but it also distinguished the unit as only the fifth school ever in the thirty one year history of the Naval ROTC program to receive such an award in only its second year of operation. Further, Oxford was cited as the top second year school in the United States—a title they carried with great pride throughout this school year. The seventy two cadets who voluntarily enrolled in the nationally recognized elective program were led by Commander Masley and Lieutenant Commander Milliner, the two Naval Science Instructors.

The cadets continued to excel in a host of activities the program provides to students. The unit's color guard performed at opening ceremonies for the Boston Red Sox (which were televised), the Pawtucket Red Sox, the Worcester Icecats and nearly all the home football and boys and girls basketball games, including the Superbowl, and the girls district playoffs. Over 2,500 hours of community service was performed by the group in over twenty-five local projects. The drill teams and the color guard finished second among eighteen teams in their third season in the Southern New England Drill League, In the four major league meets held across New England, the cadets captured seven first, five second, and three third place trophies for the school well before entering three invitational drill tournaments and the NJROTC Area Four Regional Meets against sixty-nine other schools in the spring. The Academic Teams and Air Rifle and Air Pistol Marksmanship Teams likewise reached new heightsin national competitions against schools from across the country, earning many cadets individual medals and even more trophies for the school.

Aside from the team competitions and special achievements the unit reached, cadets enjoyed themselves at several group events and special fieldtrips. Major fieldtrips were conducted to visit the United States Naval Academy and Washington D.C., the Coast Guard Academy, the Submarine Base and the USS Nautilus museum at New London, the Naval War College for guest lectures and a Leadership and Ethics Conference at Newport, RI, and participation in an at-sea cruise aboard a real Navy Warship in the New York Fleet Week Activities to name a few. The unit also hosted several dignitaries visiting the school including Major General Vezina, Adjutant General for the Massachusetts Nation Guard, Rear Admiral Mitchell, President of the Mass. Maritime Academy, State Senator Moore, and State Representative Frost. Tremendous progress was realized as each cadet reached new levels of personal excellence for themselves and special national achievements for their unit and Oxford High School.

Come Follow the Band!

What a spectacular season! The OHS band had its best marching season in many years. With the size of the band doubling from last year, we were able to put together a large halftime show including backward gate swings, moving boxes, and sideways marching.

Many of the students coming into the band had little experience or were picking up an instrument for the first time, so learning to play music and march at the same time became a major difficulty. But with the dedication from Mr. Baggett and extra help from the experienced upperclassmen, our halftime show began to fall together. Even the songs chosen (The Phantom of the Opera, Heartbreak Hotel, Jailhouse Rock, and Onward Oxford) inspired great enthusiasm in the students. But our major difficulty came into play every day; we had two separate periods during which the band met, and trying to have a rehearsal with the entire band proved impossible. So when we put the entire show together for the first time at an actual game, the crowd loved it, and our enthusiasm grew.

But along with a halftime show, we also performed numerous songs and cheers in the stands. Some of our favorites included Sergeant Peppers Lonely Hearts Club Band, Soul Finger, Louie, Louie;The Race, and Jock Jams #1. We also collaborated with the cheerleaders on cheers and raising spirits in the stands. Our improvement and spirit came to the attention of many people, and the local newspaper remarked that "the band is just as interesting as the game". We even went to Springfield to Oxford's first Superbowl.

As drum major of the band, I was able to observe grow as a whole throughout our season. Their enthusiasm and dedication showed through their playing and the intensity found in their cheering. But most of all, they made my job of being drum majorette much easier and totally enjoyable. Thanks for everything guys; you REALLY looked good out there.

As the 1997 Oxford football team began our pre-season, we had very high expectations for the team, as well as ourselves, with the added pressure of coming off our best (9-2) and worst (8-3). We knew we would have to work even harder this year to prove our capabilities to become the top team once again. We began the season with only three goals in mind: go undefeated, win the S.W.C.L. , and win the superbowl. We worked hard all season to accomplish these goals which we had set before us...and we did all except for one. Our game with Worcester Vocational became a stepping stone for the rest of the season. Offensively, we pretty much dominated our opponents, while defensively we punished them. By posting three shutouts, we adopted the name "black curtain."

One of our best and biggest games this season came against our huge rival Northbridge. This game lead Oxford High School's football team to their first-ever Superbowl. Our only loss came to Auburn on Thanksgiving, which was disappointing for our Seniors. But we knew we still had the oppurtunity to play in the Super Bowl at Springfield College. We ended the season in a three way tie for the SWCL title with Auburn and Northbridge. After our loss with Auburn, our team rose to the occasion on December 6 at 9:45 am to beat Franklin Tech and win our first ever Super Bowl. We brought home our first ever banner and super bowl trophey, along with our best ever record of 11-1, to finish our most memorable. This year will be something we will always remember.

The Driving Force

The 1997 junior varsity football team had a successful season of 9-1-1. We got most of our inspiration from our captains, Kenny Bogar and Aaron Charbonneau. Our great offense was led by Steve Rosaland, Ryan Hopkins, Joe Cormier, and Adam Palumbo. Defensive measures were lead by Kenny Bogar and Aaron Charbonneau. The future looked promising for us, especially with such a successful drive found in the players. All the members of this team would like to thank Coach O'Brien and Coach Lempicki for their great inspirations and coaching. The combination of our great coaches and our hard work was what lead to such a spectacular season. We sincerely appreciate everyone's efforts. -Kenny Bogar

BASE OF IT ALL

Coach Defudis retired this year after four years of dedicated service to the Oxford Football Program. His efforts for the Freshman level are the base of our program which has become a premier team in Central Massachusets. His first freshman were the seniors of this Superbowl season. We will miss his hard work and efforts to make Oxford a solid football program. Thank you for your years of service, Coach Defudis.The freshman team is at the beginning of their football futures. The skills they are learning may some day lead them to be superbowl champs. It is sad they will no longer learn from Coach Defudis.

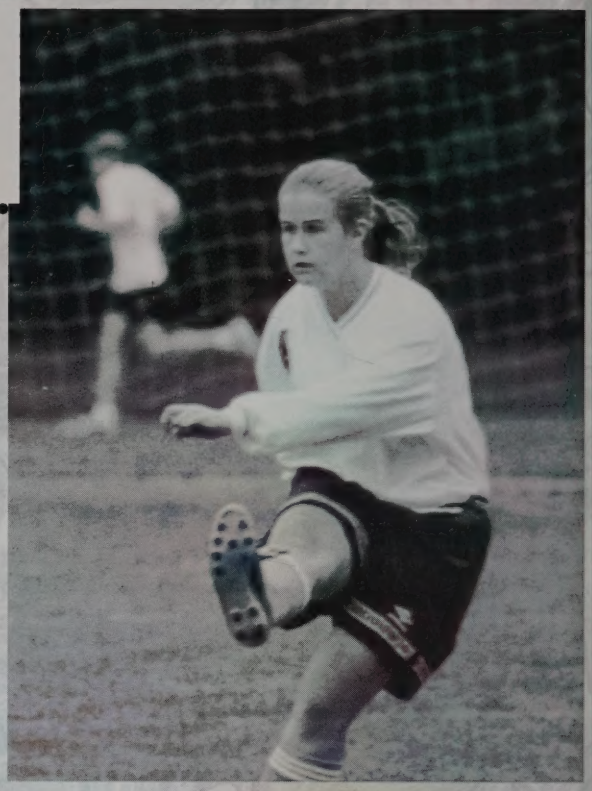
Achieving Goals



From the beginning of the season, we knew that few people expected our team to make it to districts. Even at our very first game, as Coach Canty read an article about our opponents expected success, we knew that we had to play, not only with our hearts, but also to prove a point.

We had a great number of laughs but also faced problems, as many teams do. I'm sure we won't all skip practice together next year! We learned our lessons quickly and continued to play with more than 100% effort. The fans were definitely a great help, bringing a crowd that was bigger than ever before to each game. The team pulled together by the time finals came and even though we didn't win, we had a great season and we are proud to hold the record for the only Oxford Girls Varsity Soccer team to go all the way to the District Finals! -Jamie Mayer

WHAT A TEAM!

When I started out as captain, I was unsure of how our season would turn out, but as we continued to practice and played as a team, I knew we could do anything we desired.

Although our team had a few hardships, and even a few small fights, we learned to keep it off the field and pulled together to be the best that we could be.

When playing we were aggressive and determined to win. We schooled some teams and in turn some teams schooled us. Although we did not win all of our games we played with authority and with the knowledge that no matter how a scoreboard may look this was one of the best teams around.

Molly Hudson

I think we had a really good season. When we played our first game, most of us did not think much of the team. After a few practices we finally realized we needed to come together to make it work. Throughout the season we became close and that is what helped us the most.

We had many good times during the season with practices, games, and the locker room conversations. Each player made the season more memorable for each other.

CLOSE, BUT NO CIGAR

This year's soccer team entered the season with apparent experience and athletisism, led by Coach Boucher and captains Ken Mead and Scott St.Martin. There was a plethora of seniors returning to the team, including Chris Aucoin, Mike Spitz, James Czeh, and Marc Listewnik. In addition, Oxford borrowed the German Iron-man known as Mike Franke, who added to our talent. Unfortunately, we missed the post-season by a mere one point, denied in many very close games.

Although not evident in our unsuccessful record, the talent present on this season's team was overwhelming. We had a difficult time blending together because of the huge variety of people on the team, but our hard work made the year enjoyable for everyone on the team, both players and coach. Because of the lack of cooperation the team exhibited at some practices, we learned that only nothing can be accomplished from nothing. The shinning moments during the games were awesome, but tragically they were few and far between. We hope that next year's team can combine their talent and experience to result in success, even with the loss of many seniors. Mike Spitz

THROUGH IT TOGETHER!

Our season was full of ups and downs. We had some new players join the team, including Sam Paldino, Jay Pacade, Steve Norrgard, and Troy Mercier. They were a great improvement to the team. All of the team members became indispensible to our wins. Some of our most memorable wins were against Auburn, Millbury, Prouty, and Tantasqua. They were awesome wins because in the past, we had a difficult time beating them. Some of our toughest losses were against St. John's twice.

Through the good, and the bad!

The Oxford Field Hockey Team had an unbelievably difficult season this year. We had a tremendous number of players quitting when we already had a shortage of players. Those people who actually stayed helped pull the entire team through what seemed like an everlasting season. Although we were not extremely successful in winning our games we did eventually learn how to work together and how to operate as a team should. We learned how to work with what we had--a new coach, many new players on a varsity team, a number of different goalies, and an ever decreasing number of players. Even though there were many adjustments to accept, we still had a fun time and learned to relate as a team--and that is what I feel is the most important aspect of the game and season!

A team....To actually make yourself run at a considerable pace for three miles, for the absolute joy of running? Who thought of this sport anyway? Yet, we love every minute of it! It fills us with pride, joy, and the spirit to win, as well as builds our character as people. We come together in the end and we prove what friendship and support really are. We made it! We completed a season with seven girls and at least two of which were on the injured list for each meet. But we made it—and we came through proud! It took pure will, determination and mounds of support from each other. I thank all the other girls for that. There could never be a friendship better than ours as a team. Good luck to all the underclassmen in all your cross country endeavors.

Love, your captain, Angela Buffone

Keep on Runnin'

This year's cross country team had its most successful season since 1991. We finished second in the S.W.C.L. championship, losing by only 6 points. Our S.W.C.L. record was 8-4. We had three different first place finishes, Jason Kudron, Nick Daviau, and Dan Moylan, who have helped win half of our league meets. Dan Moylan surprised everyone this year, especially himself this season. He managed to break the school course record, finish eighth at the S.W.C.L. meet, and was named a S.W.C.L. all-star. George Shattuck lowered his time by over a minute on our course and finished tenth in the S.W.C.L. meet. Captain Jason Kudron stepped up big this year by claiming the most first place finishes for Oxford and by dropping his course time by one minute and twenty seconds. Captain Ed Bourbeau, Matt Medeiros, and Chris Mathurin dropped their course times over one minute each and helped win a few key meets by stepping up when someone was hurt or missing. Freshman, Bill Bannon, and eight grader Tory Gisleson rounded out the team and ran very good times for their first year. Overall, the team performed well beyond Coach Shattuck's goals and surprised a few teams in the S.W.C.L.

Let's Go Pirates!

This year was our best season ever. Our stunts really improved! We started with small stunts called halfs and by the end of the season we had accomplished one of the most difficult stunts, a lib. We had all different types of stunts throughout the season, inculding basket tosses, arabesques, and torches. This squad worked so hard and that's how we became so good. We couldn't have done it without our wonderful coach, Paula Hopkins. Now here are a few memories from the 1997 "Bomb Squad":

Our best game, when we beat Northbridge, we were so excited when we found out we recieved S.W.C.L. banner, No one will ever forget Amy May, the Bomb Squad's first Superbowl, the bus ride with Joel's boxers, give me an O- after every touchdown, Meg flying at our last practice, #1 under the sun after we beat every team, singing in the rain at bad weather games, cheering camp, we know now to watch for ditches and to hold your pants up at all times, the room checks never bothereed us—we didn't listen anyway, to make sure we didn't "Ben Diken" before a bid evaluation, never leave food on the floor, the chips will be moving on their own in the morning, we can dress up as homies if we want to, and knowing you won't get in trouble for prank calls, Andrea and Shawna will never forget the bug in Shawna's hair, on the sidelines, we had fun at practice with our secret talks, major stunts, and making run-throughs, we're ready to do a stunt, Meg and Al, fix your hips, some games were cold, and hy-po-ther-mia came into effect, the football games with run throughs were a bit difficult, right Meg and Amy?, the last away game was sad—it made us think How will I live without this squad?, the fantastic four never gave up with the times they had to go through (Beck, Ang, Al, Ame), we all had our own good luck charms , and how we give little hugs, Hey! Madonna was an experience to dance to but I don't think anyone will forget Becky's feet.

We would like to thank the football team for doing such a spectacular job! Thanks for putting up with us. We'll miss you!, but we'll never forget any of you! -Love, Andrea, Alison, and Megan XOXO

Orange and Black!

The squad, which is made up of six seniors and nine underclassmen, all worked extremely well together. Sophomores Amy Morse, Jess Rutter and Carrie Berthiaume choreographed the cheerleaders' home halftime routine. The squad was very impressed by the ability of the three girls. The routine shows great creativity and incorporates new stunts. The fans have been very supportive when the routine is performed.

We practice twice a week in the school's auditorium, which has been tough because other after school activities need the use of the space. Compromises have been made and the girls do what they can outside of the autitorium. We want to thank the ROTC for being more than willing to share the gym at the beginning of the week. The squad has enjoyed cheering on the Basketball team, which has had some great games this season. We wish the teams lots of luck for the remaining games. At the conclusion of the season, the cheerleaders plan to enter competitions. A new routine will be performed.

The Force Turning Heads

This season, the Varsity Lady Pirates Basketball Team is turning heads. With a current eighth place on the Telegram and the Gazette Top Ten and a record of 13-1, the girls are definitely a force to be contented with. Though suffering our first loss to David Prouty, we won in our come-back games to take wins against Millbury, Uxbridge and Northbridge. Every game is taken one at a time. The only important game is our next one. The support from the fans has been great, so keep on attending our games, everyone!!! -Karyn Veil

Some Hard-Working Ladies!

The '97-'98 J.V. Girl's Basketball season was excellent and fun for the team, even though we won 5 out of 15 games. We had excellent coaching from Coach Murphy and Coach Doldoorian. Thanks to them, they made our season interesting and a great learning experience. We worked hard to do our best and succeed. One of our best memories was when we kicked David Prouty's butt! We proved we can do anything if we set our minds to something. If you try hard then you'll succeed, just like the Varsity girls did! Thanks to the people and fans who supported us through the season.

Shooting Beyond the Stars...

As December 1st came around, the boys basketball team couldn't wait to hit the court. With a successful summer in which we had an over -.500 record in the Auburn Summer League and the fact that we participated in many tournaments made the team ready for the winter season. The captains of the team, Eric Lavine and Marc Listewnik, made sure the team was ready to play. At the start of the new year, our record was 1-2, with losses coming from Southbridge and Blackstone-Millville Regional, and a win over Bartlett. We knew that if we were to prove something, it would have to be in 1998. As a team, we did prove something with a win against David Prouty. This win was the third in a row, and also the game that put the varsity team over .500 for the first time in 4 years. It was a great feeling to win a game like that, but we knew that if we wanted to play in the playoffs, we would have to play with more intensity. The season is prooving to be a good one and as a player, I would like to thank the fans for their support.

Our young team consists of four seniors, Scott St.Martin, Andrew Plotzcyk, Eric Lavine, and Marc Listewnik; five juniors, Rob Phillipo, Nick Daviau, and Matty Mediros; and three sophomores, Ryan Hopkins, Steve Roselund, and Corey Maybey.

Total Teamwork

The boys junior varsity basketball season was filled with many ups and downs. We had a new group of kids and a whole new strategy of playing that was designed to make every player work harder for themselves and for the team. I saw an improvement in every player, and by the end of the season, we learned how to play as a team instead of individuals. Although the wins were not there, I think a new desire and love ignited in each of us that will benefit the program in years to come. Special recognition should be given to each and every team member for their time, strength, determination, and their will to succeed.

Quicker than Lightning...

The girls' indoor track team had a very trying '97- '98 season. Although our record has been better in the past, we did accomplish some personal triumphs. Lauren Baxter improved her two mile time AND the school record by over 36 seconds! Jenny Bursell also contributed to the team with her ability to run many different events very well. Each girl put in her best at each meet this season, and it showed through the continuously dropping times. We wish next year's girl's track team the best of luck and hope they accomplish their next goals of the new season.

In the upcoming events for the girls track team, we have three important meets. They include the league championships, districts, and the state meet. Each girl will try for her best individual time and hopefully win the race. For the State Meet, two girls on the track team qualified: Julie Scricco for the 50 yard dash, and Nicole King for the 50 yard high hurtles. We hope to represent our school well at the State Meet and come home with the win!!! -Julie Scricco and Nicole King

As Fast as a Speeding Bullet...

We had a strong team this year, even though we just came off of an SWCL win. After the league relays, we had high expectation in many events. The team was fed by long distance runners Vinny Piarulli, Jay Kudron, George Shattuck and freshman Billy Bannnon. Our middle distance runners included sophomore Chris Mathurin,who came in a close second in the league for the 600, Joel Daoust, Brian Wells, Ed Bourbeau, and Dan Moylan, who blew away the competition in the 1000. Our sprint team was led by Ken Mead, the freshman star Jared "Burner" Jimenz, Mike Franke, and Dan Moylan. For the field events, Garret Mercier, Brian Wells, and Mike Franke led the way in the high jump, and Dan Kranse, Ken Mead and Mike Franke showed off their strength in the shot put. Overall, we had a strong showing thoughout the season. We believe that everyone gave his best efforts, especially against David Prouty.

Words cannot express the pride your father and I feel when we look at the person you have become and your many accomplishments. Years of hard work and sheer determination have culminated in a very successful senior year for you.

But more important than your academic accomplishments are your compassion and caring toward all people. Integrity, empathy, honesty and a maturity beyond your years are the hallmarks of your young life.

Know that your family will always be your "safe harbor" as you venture into the world. They will soon realize, as we do, that we are lucky to have you! Make a difference! (But remember to have fun, too!)

We love you!

You were six months old and full of fun.
With a blink of my eye, you were suddenly one.
There were so many things we were going to do,
But I turned my head and you turned two.
At two you were very dependent on me,
But independence took over when you turned three.
Your third birthday, another year I tried to ignore,
But, when I lit the candle, there weren't three, but four.
Four was the year that you really strived.
Why look at you now you're already five.
Now you are ready for books and for rules.
This is the year that you go to school.
We walked to the bus, going oh, so slow.
As you climbed aboard and waved good-bye,
I felt a lump in my throat and tears stung in my eyes.
Time goes so fast, it's hard to believe
That you were just home here with me.
And tomorrow when the bus brings you home
and you jump to the ground,
You'll be wearing your cap and graduation gown.
So I'm holding to these moments as hard as I can,
Because the next time I look, I'll be seeing a man.

Michael Spitz

Mike,
Thanks for letting us share your life and may you continue to bring the same joy to others as you have to us.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Nina Stone

Nina, always remember...
The difference between the possible and the impossible depends upon one's determination.
Live life to the fullest and never settle for anything but the best for yourself.
With all our love,
Mom and Nicky

Jessica Zicaro

Best of Luck
in the Future.
We're so proud of you.
Love,
Mom & Dad

To the Class of 1998:

Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and the ignorant; they too have their story. - Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. - Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. - Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is perennial as the grass. - Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and lonliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. - You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. - Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisey confusion of life keep peace with your soul. - With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy. - -

Some Last Minute Thoughts

Well, this is it! As my final deadline looms on the horizon, my stress level begins to reach the meltdown stage. I've watched this creation grow since day one, from the cover design and color pages, through the final winter sports layouts. But along with the successes come the defeats and frustrations: how the computer seemed to malfunction before every deadline, stories and scores that weren't passed in on time, the photos that weren't usable, and the fact that I was behind on every deadline. I still think, though, that all of our hard work has paid off, and our results will astound you.

I didn't do this alone, though. Many people contributed to this book, from section editors to the wandering students in the halls who identified people in photographs. This is my time to say "Thank You" to you.

Annie, you were my "left handed woman". You kept me semi-sane by handling the faculty section again, and writing ALL those captions. Your magazine clippings supplied the endsheets and major divider pages, and your copy-editing techniques drove me up the walls. Love you one! P.S. Tweety is MINE!! * Tammie, you were my money angel. Without your endless "telemarketing", bookkeeping, and filling out subscription forms, financially I would not have been able to even think about making this book. * Sara, you were my paparazzi photographer. Anytime I needed photos, I only needed to ask you once, and the quality of your results blew me away. Oh, and the collage looks great! * Melissa, your sudden inspiration in Walmart brought about our theme, It's Just a Phase, and I sincerely thank you for it. I also appreciate your consistent correspondence with NASA. * Erin Brenner and Sarah Brunelle, you were so wonderful because you willingly subjected yourselves to typing ALL those senior summaries. Nobody else could have handled this enormous task quite like you did. * John Carrier (our yearbook representative), you drove me nuts (and probably vice versa). I'm really glad we decided to create the book on the computer, even though the task looked quite daunting at first glance. Sorry I was so far behind on every deadline, but we sure had fun teasing Mrs. Briody! Oh, the bagels always hit the right spot. * The wonderful guys on the maintenance staff, especially Mr. Dion, were always so kind to me. Your warm smiles and willingness to let me into the artroom yet again made my late nights seem more bearable. * Those lovely ladies in the main office, Mrs. Lilley and Mrs. Racicot, ALWAYS had an answer to my endless questions. I totally appreciate every photocopy, every piece of mail that had to be stamped, every time I needed to use the phone, and every time I borrowed your keys. Sorry I depleted your supply of manilla envelopes. * To the outstanding photographers of Casson Foster, without you we wouldn't have had so many beautiful photos to choose from. * To the friendly folks at NASA: I appreciate the loan of the awesome moon and earth photos that grace our cover and divider pages. They give our book that extra special touch. * There were a few dedicated underclassmen who worked on their own sections. * Thank you so much for all your hard work and willingness to put up with my "musts". * All those poor kids that got stuck filling out HUNDREDS of flyers and pamphlets or writing captions because you were in the artroom at the wrong time: you took a big load off my shoulders. * And to all of my teachers who graciously let me miss class and helped me catch up on the work because of a deadline: you rock! * Mom, Daddy, and Poo, you were always there for me whenever I needed help or a shoulder to cry on. I can't imagine how you dealt with me at school until 9 or 10pm, or totally stressed out because of a "yearbook problem". Thanks for keeping my suppers warm and your comforting hugs. I love you! P.S. Mom, I'll miss your chicken while I'm at college! * To ALL my friends, especially Ed, Corey, 'Gregs', Ann (again), Deyna, and Kara; I don't know how you did it, but you made my senior year much more than "yearbook this" and "yearbook that". Sorry about all the yearbook secrets, but maybe now you'll understand why. I love you all!! * And to the superwoman in room 167, Mrs. Susan Smith Briody, I cannot say "thank you" enough for all the knowledge you bestilled in me. Even though we had our stressful moments, we still had our fun times and stupendous moments of inspiration. Yearbook camp was a blast. I hope everything is easier next year. I'll miss you!

If I left anyone out, I'm extremely sorry. I totally appreciate all your help. Now that I have completed this, another phase of my life has passed, and I can't wait for the next one to begin. Just like a full moon on a cloudless night, I hope all of your hopes and dreams shine brightly before you, just waiting to be grasped. Take your time, and most importantly, have fun. But remember, It's Just a Phase... Love Always, Mindy
